Go to north cotes village. The postcode of the local pub on the high street in the village is 'dn36 5up'. Please note the postcode for the club does not take you to the right place.

As soon as you see signs to 'new tribes mission' or 'airfield', follow them and ignore your sat nav.

Opposite the church is a junction and you need to follow sign to 'airfield' or 'new tribes mission' (if you cannot locate this ask the villagers for the 'old raf camp')

Follow road down for a mile or so. You will start to pass houses and bungalows on the right and then you will find yourself on the old camp with old military/council style housing.

Ahead of you are a set of green gates which is the entrance to the old camp. You may see the logo 'ntm' which indicates you are at 'new tribes mission' who own most of the site.

Go through the gates and drive straight ahead. Approx 150m down the road you should turn left into 'torbeau road'. The sign at the bottom should say 'north cotes butts'.

Follow this road down over speed bumps and carry on down the track. You will see the range in the distance with a red flag above.

Pull in car park and come into the club room and ask for Martin Appleton.
